BASSANO WANTS LADY VOLUNTEERS

Here's a Chance for Bassano Ladies to Help Along the Town by Giving a Little of Their Time Willingly and Cheerfully.

Norman B. Binning, publicity agent of the C.P.R. department of natural resources, was in Bassano on Saturday in conference with the Mayor and City Council concerning the arrangements for Bassano's share of the hospitality to be tendered the Irrigation Congress delegates when they come from Calgary to inspect the Big Dam.

The committee in charge appointed by the Council is asking for lady volunteers to prepare and serve the lunch. All materials will be provided. The ladies are requested to report to Councilmen Struthers and Travis, who will furnish full particulars. The exact date the visitors will be in Bassano is not yet made public. No doubt the Bassano ladies will respond heartily to this call to arms.

Thanksgiving Day Changed to Monday, October 12th.

In changing the date of Thanksgiving from Thursday, Oct. 9th, to Monday, Oct. 12th, the Dominion Government has made a concession to a popular desire. Practically all their crops were irrigated up to May 15th, and Mr. Keener began cutting on the last day of July. Mr. Parrott has a field of oats that has every sign of maturing on land that was prairie sod on May 1st. He broke his land, drilled in oats on the sod and irrigated the sod after May 1st, and has oats that were due to mature on Sept. 10th.

BASSANO "BABY" COLONY PRODUCES 50,000 BUSHELS

The results achieved at the Bassano colony this year when experienced Colorado irrigation farmers proved the best harvest in Southern Alberta, has proven the vitalization of the promoters of irrigation in this district.

But slightly more than four months old, the colony has produced 50,000 bushels of wheat under irrigation, and what is more important, has demonstrated the adaptability of climate and soil for irrigation purposes.

This news is contained in a report by C. A. Van Scoy, an irrigation expert who just concluded an inspection of the colony.

Mr. Van Scoy says: "It is my opinion that the demonstration made by the eastern section by the Colorado farmers on the Bassano colony has done more to establish local confidence and enthusiasm in irrigation than any other cause. The reason for the success lies in the fact that these men were supplied with means in fertility to irrigate it, and farmers acquainted with the use of water to take advantage of it. They have proven the benefits of irrigation and the success and profitability. When the water was raised to them, notwithstanding it was not pronounced till 1914, they were ready to apply it. Contrary to good irrigation ethics, it was necessary to irrigate up their crops of wheat, oats, barley, potatoes, etc. Such has been their experience that out of 23 who came, 23 are still there, and all are busy making arrangements for next year's crop. There will be twice as many next year as this."

BARN BURNED AT BROOKS

The barn on the fourth farm at South-east Colony near Brooks was destroyed by fire on Wednesday night of last week. Three horses and a valuable bull were incriminated in the destruction. A horse, a bull and a calf escaped, the bull battering its way out. The cause of the fire is unknown. It was about ten o'clock at night when B. B. Nanger, Canadian agent for the Duke of Rutland, saw the flames from the house and went in an alarm. The barn was ready to go by Mr. Nanger saw it was useless as the barn even then was engulfed.

The barn was a 40x50 structure and the loss of it was covered by insurance. The loss in horses and other stock was about $400. J. L. Martin, contractor, is rebuilding the structure.

PROMINENT MEN AT BIG CONVENTION

International Irrigation Convention to be Held in Calgary from October 5th. to 9th, the First of the Kind in Canada. Many Prominent Irrigation Experts to be Present.

The International Irrigation Congress, the greatest agricultural event of Western Canada for the year 1914, will be in progress in Calgary from October 5th to 9th. During this convention a vast fund of information will be disseminated over the irrigation work. Agricultural experts will gather from points in Canada and the United States; men in charge of great engineering schemes will be present; men who have long responsible command of the legislation, benefiting the water users on both sides of the international boundary are coming to Calgary; and altogether this congress will be one of the most notable gatherings of irrigation and agricultural experts ever gathered together in one city on the American continent.

In former years, since the inception of the organization in Salt Lake City, Utah, in 1891, the congress has convened in many cities in the United States. Its influence has been marvellous from the standpoint of the benefit to farmers dependent on the use of water for their crops. Its influence has been great in the matter of information disseminated among the agriculturists generally, and the work of the organization is only just beginning.

This is the first meeting of the congress in Canada. Calgary was selected for the gathering on account of the interest the city has taken in irrigation. In the vicinity of Calgary there are a number of irrigation projects which embrace many millions of acres of land. In fact irrigation is rapidly becoming a factor in Western Canada that must be reckoned with in the agricultural output.

There are, however, many things Canadians can learn from their neighbors to a long way toward making a farming land that he has something to be thankful for. The irrigation in Canada will have a beneficial effect on the Dominion. On the other hand Canadians have learned to avoid the errors into which the irrigationists have fallen, and have learned to make the most of the water. An extent that the people of the United States may be able to learn much from them. In engineering and construction projects there are few better examples than at Bassano. The irrigationists are now having an opportunity of visiting during the congress.

In connection with the programme there has been organized in Calgary a choir of 600 voices, which at the session of the congress will render patriotic selections under the leadership of Max Wall, until recently conductor of the Calgary Symphony Orchestra. Another feature of the programme will be the trip

ALDERSYDE FARMER MAKES GOOD

Concrete evidence of profits that may be secured from agricultural operations, is furnished by C. M. Cuts, of Aldersyde, whose net cash income from a half section this year amounts to $4,285.

Clearing up over $4,000 in one season on a half section of land may not make one a millionaire, but will certainly go a long way toward making a farming land that he has something to be thankful for. The irrigation in Canada will have a beneficial effect on the Dominion. On the other hand Canadians have learned to avoid the errors into which the irrigationists have fallen, and have learned to make the most of the water. An extent that the people of the United States may be able to learn much from them. In engineering and construction projects there are few better examples than at Bassano. The irrigationists are now having an opportunity of visiting during the congress.

EXCAVATION FOR NEW POST OFFICE COMPLETED

Concrete Work is Now Being Rubbed. Laborers Scare.

W. J. Yeo made short work of the excavation for the new Bassano post office. Putting his equipment and a large gang to work, it took but a week's time for the execution of his commission. The earth removed was mostly dumped on the low part of the roadway near the C.P.R. depot.

All preparations are being made to rub the work on the concrete foundation. Straps and rollers are being used to move the concrete into place. It was intended by The Mail this morning to publish an engraving of the architect's drawing of Bassano's new post office along with full details of the plans, but it happened that the only available drawing had been sent to Ottawa and a delay of a couple of weeks is made necessary as a consequence.

PRISONERS OF WAR AT LETHBRIDGE

Lethbridge Herald.—Chicken of a decidedly different type than the winged variety will make Lethbridge their home in future, if the plans of Colonel Withers and Cuthberts pass. The prisoners of war captured in the last war are to be converted into a military prison, according to the announcement made by Manager McNeil this morning. The two military officers inspected the post grounds this morning and left recommendations to Ottawa authorities will likely decide the issue.

The authorities have been pushed for some time as to where they could confine the prisoners of war captured in the province. The penitentiary institutions are practically full and the question has been a hard one to solve. There are no accommodations in Calgary, and those at the Lethbridge fair grounds meet with the approval of the officers.

The post office building will be utilized first, and if that is filled, there is enough room in the other buildings and hayrack to accommodate several hundred American prisoners.

The establishment of the military prison here will mean much to Lethbridge. The city's domestic buildings to the Crown, but fortunately for the merchants of the city, the House and Hunsford will have to be sold. All the surplus will be purchased locally, and there will be an industrial staff of several guards to feed and clothe.

As far as is known, no outside prisoners will be brought here. But the number of German and Austrian recent years captured in the province has been large, and they will be brought here from practically every point in Alberta.

DEATH OF MRS. SISON

May Murphy Sison, wife of G. A. Sison, died on Sunday, Sept. 14th, at the home of her mother near New Haven. Mrs. Sison was called out in January to the bedside of her father, who lived only about two weeks after her arrival. Shortly after her father's death, Mrs. Sison's health failed, and she succumbed after an illness of more than seven months.

Besides her husband and two children, Mrs. Sison is survived by her mother, one sister and three brothers. She was a well-known and successful business woman in town, having built the Bassano hospital. The funeral will be held at the home of her husband. Mrs. Sison went about two weeks ago and is expected to return in a short time.

PLENTY GOLD AT OTTAWA

New York, Sept. 14.—The first large transfer of gold to Canada, in connection with the payment of New York City's obligations in London and Paris, occurred on Sept. 12. J. P. Morgan and company, acting for the city's $100,000,000 loan, sent $1,000,000 in gold to the city's treasury for shipment to Ottawa, where it will be placed to the credit of the Bank of England. Further shipments of gold of this amount will be made in the course of the week.

BERRY CREEK AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY ORGANIZED

The progressive members of the residents of the district lying north of the Red Deer River have again been demonstrated by the organization of the Berry Creek Agricultural Society, whose chief place of business is Dundas.

The first annual meeting of the society was held at Park Prairie school house on Saturday, September 6th, when the following officers and committees were elected: President, Charles A. Foster; Vice-President, G. H. Wood; Secretary, J. E. Helmer; Directors, Geo. Cuthbert, John Davis, B. W. Dowdell, J. W. Foster, A. W. Flanagan, W. J. Fisher, O. T. Goff, L. E. Helmer, Joseph Hume, Russell Johnston, J. K. Kemp, P. Lepp, W. T. Plamen, James Young, N. L. Stewart.

Addresses were given by Messrs. J. W. Foster, B. Plamen and W. J. Wilmont. A vote of thanks was tendered Gordon A. Foster, the president, for his efforts in organizing the society.

The above society is formed under the Agricultural Societies Ordinance, the objects of which are to encourage improvement in agriculture, manufacture and husbandry, by importing and otherwise procuring seeds, plants and animals of new or valuable kind, by holding exhibitions at which prizes may be awarded for excellence in raising or introducing of live stock; the invention or improvement of agricultural machines and implements, the production of grain and all kinds of vegetables, plants, flowers and fruits, home manufactures and works of art, and generally for excellence in any agricultural production or operation.

The government gives a membership grant of $1 for each paid-up member up to 100, and in the event of holding an exhibition gives two-thirds of the prize money providing $500 is expended and at the same percentage up to $3,000. Other liberal grants given by the Alberta Provincial Government are for the following: seed grain fair, poultry exhibition, field grain competition, good farms competition, spring station show, etc.

NO FORECLOSURES TILL AFTER WAR

The important announcement that no more orders for sales would be given for the specific performance of sale, or foreclosure in mortgage actions is made by L. E. Clarry, master in chancery.

The various judges of Alberta have expressed themselves as being opposed to giving judgements in foreclosure proceedings in connection with mortgages during the depression caused by the great world war now being waged. The master in chancery says this understanding will continue until the war is over. It does not apply to anyone who has abandoned from the province.

BASSANO, THURSDAY, SEPT. 17TH, 1914

BRIGHTER PROSPECTS

It seems as if a war was almost necessary to re-establish business in general on a sound basis. Particularly in Canada we have evidence of this. Thousands and thousands of people were living off the country and giving absolutely nothing in return for their existence. In times like that we have now it is these people and those dependent upon them that suffer. The farmers of the country are not suffering, and they? Because they are a necessary element to the country's natural prosperity. They are receiving greater returns for their efforts this year than at most any previous period. They will spend practically in proportion to what they receive.
So it can be only a matter of a few months' adjustment till affairs are on a better footing than before.

It is the speculative interests that go to the wall. There will be a goodly supply of money in the country but there will be very little "sound" real estate bought and sold. The thinking man will "invest" his money
where he sees some likelihood of it paying dividends through legitimate production.

It is a safe wager that there will be scarcely enough farm hands in Canada next spring to meet the requirements for seeding. Canada is going back to production. Intelligent production is what encourages industry and commercial prosperity.

NATURAL GAS

After hearing of all the trouble
Calgary, Lethbridge and Macleod
are having over their gas rates, it gives a feeling of satisfaction to Bassano to know that her gas interests will be under municipal control. It may mean considerable sacrifice on the start, but eventually the benefits will be realized in a monetary way by the people direct.

It is to be regretted that gas can not be supplied the citizens this fall and winter. The cold weather just coming in sight, a commodity
of this character could be greatly appreciated. However, coal is not at prohibitive prices here, and the good fortune of Alberta in this respect is easily established when compared with Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

A GOOD POLICY

The Alberta newspapers in general are conducting a campaign to encourage the farmers to "make two blades grow next year where one grew this," or, in other words, to double the production of the province. The prospect of high prices for grain and stock next year offers a splendid inducement to the farming public. Already thousands of acres of land have been well summer-fallowed and is now in excellent shape for spring seeding. There will be a demand for more than Canada can produce next year.

Edmonton's 1914 tax rate is to be 174 mills, despite extensive retrenchments.

IT'S YOU

If you want to live in the kind of a town

Like the kind of a town you like,
You'd better buy your clothes in a grip
and start on a long, long hike.
You'll find what you left behind.
For there's nothing that's really new;
It's a knock at yourself when you knock
your town.

Real towns are not made by men afraid
To let somebody else get ahead of them.
When everyone works and nobody shirks
You can make a town from the dirt.
And, if while you make some personal
state.

Your neighbor can make out too;
Your town will be what you want to see.
It isn't your town - it's you.

NOTES

Germany is a country largely surrounded by Russians.

Those killed in the German, but like vandals to the Germans, but they set more like tragedy.

If the Germans ever reach the gates of Paris, they will not find them ajar, says the Vancouver Sun.

Italy, it is said, will present an ultimatum to Austria. A nation like an individual might as well be dead as out of fashion.

Living on the farm these days
has its disadvantages. The farmer never gets a chance to contribute cash to patriotic or charitable funds.

From Winnipeg: "Three more
German warships sunk this morning." "Who by?" "I ain't sure.
It was either the Free Press or the Tribune."

This at least can be said for Austria: She started a fight with less than it would take two white horses to sign articles for a ten-round race.

The Lethbridge school teachers
have had their salaries reduced.
In most cases the reduction affects them only to the extent of their usual yearly "raise."

An Alberta German was arrested
in Montreal last week and relieved of $75,000 that he was carrying.

There seems no very good reason for keeping both he and his money.

The battle line of the Austrian and Russian armies about Lemberg
extended from Zanetti-Thomson
Kamianka-Gliniany-Promyslyany-Barkarszew southward. There's no hesitation in saying that such a line is practically invulnerable.

Strathmore Standard - On the Dominion Government's experimental plot the grain now has all been out and is partly stacked.
The peas have also been cut and irrigated ones will show a very large yield. It is interesting to note the irrigated ones have ripened before those on dry land. In the stacking of the grain each half acre plot is kept separate. Some of the crops of irrigated wheat are twice the size of the dry ones. Next year Mr. Walburn, who is in charge of the work, intends to plant some Alberta grown alfalfa seed.

Calgary, Lethbridge and Macleod
are all three having a war of their own over the fact that the gas company has advanced the rates.
Coming as it does in both war and winter time the people justly feel it an imposition. There is no apparent reason why the price should be raised and public sentiment is very bitterly trained against the gas company. In Calgary many connections will be removed and the city officials are investigating a municipal coal scheme such as that operated in Lethbridge.

message written on a postal card
from Pittsburgh, Pa., to F.T. Fisher, secretary of the Edmonton Board of Trade.

A short glance at the illustrations in the fall fashions will convince any reader that the war is not without its affects in every line of existence. One of the advertisements reads: "Dance Fashion is ever ready to borrow from any period a style that adds to her charms." This may be so, but the Canadian public will need to be educated to seeing their "dainty ladies" arrayed in Russian Cossack tunics. So long as the art of a source of inspiration does not become associated with
"creation" and its wearers the added
charm may be assumed.

MAJOR

The friends and acquaintances of Steve Williams will be sorry to hear that he was taken to the General Hospital at Calgary on Sept. 7th, suffering with typhoid fever.

The young ladies of Major will be pleased to hear that Mr. Dorey is back again. Mr. Dorey says he has the race will be packed between here and Black-and will be settled down to a life of bliss writing post cards, etc.

It is reported that at the dance in Liberty school house next Friday there will be a dancing master who will teach all the fair ladies of Major the Rag and Tango and a few more of the up-to-date dances.

On Joe Russell and the top buggy.

It has been pretty quiet around Major this past week. It must be the calm which generally occurs before the storm.

him every success in his new enterprise.

Hunters must beware of hunting on enclosed land without having their license tucked on the end of their rifle barrels. Some people have been frightening the horses in this neighborhood and the license attached in this way has a tendency to depress the mood.

will keep him warm this winter.

Any person who does not think they build good buggies in Canada just wants to look at Miles Clemens' buggy. Of course his buggy has not been through the war so far, but it looks pretty good considering it has been out two years and the usage it gets.

HERE KIDDES SMILE IN KEWPIE STYLE

HAPPY they are! A whole row of them are smiling and cute as Miss O'Neil's lawsons. Unlike the lawsons, these kiddies are clothed in something besides a suit. No matter where the midsummer vacation is passed—at the mountains, in the country, by the seashore or quietly at home—these are the suits and dresses the kiddies will wear. The quaint Kate Greenway clothes for both boys and girls are favored again by kiddie fashion. The shy little chap at the extreme left is clothed in one of them. The tiny blouse is made of white lawn ruffled, as to collar and bosom and cuffs, while the little white pleated trousers are studiously buttoned to it with large ornamental pearl buttons. There is no rubber in the bottoms of the trousers to tease the little man's fat legs. The jaunty little maiden next to him also is clothed according to the Kate Greenway fashion. The tiny "water lily" and puffed sleeves of hand embroidered voile is particularly charming for a party gown. The short waist is held in place by a cord of taffeta; the square cut neck is outlined by a banding of fine hand embroidery. The boy next to him is dressed in one of the popular blouse gowns. For the wee tot these gowns are used quite as much as the Kate Greenway models. As pictured here it was built of figured batiste trimmed with red velvet ribbon edging. The tiny shirt is cut on the bias and ripples prettily from under the overhanging blouse. There is a touch of taffeta to match the pink roses in the material, and the white socks are also pink striped. The sitty little hat is made of pink taffeta and bears on the back like a freeman's helmet. The crown is softly gathered, and the band around it is prettily finished by rosettes made of the silk. The gown pictured next to the figure is built of pearl colored linen trimmed with old blue linen bands with a double cording of black. The belt, suspender, collar and cuffs are of the blue. The suspenders are buttoned front and back with large white mother-of-pearl buttons. The skirt is attached to the long waist and is arranged in large bow plaits. Next comes an absolutely unique development of a boy's suit. The material is of blue flannel. Blouse and trousers are buttoned together in Kate Greenway fashion. With white collar, cuffs and tie the suit is quite all right for any occasion, but with these things removed it resolves itself into a perfectly good bathing suit. Such a suit would be invaluable at the seashore. The last smiling kiddie in the row is wearing a somewhat modified Kate Greenway frock. This gown is built of figured batiste. The kimono sleeves and yoke are oddly outlined with bands of valencienne insertion and shaped ruffles of silk. The shirt seems a trifle scant, but some mothers like their severely plain skirts.

"MAKE THE PUNISHMENT FIT THE CRIME"

WHATEVER reproach or privation we impose upon a child must be clearly connected with the offense. The child should always know just exactly why he is being punished. Moreover, the punishment should not be so long deferred that the child can lose the connection between his offense and the punishment.

Nothing that affects a child's health, such as interference with meals or with sleep, should be used as a punishment. Nor should useful work or study be discarded by being used as a means of punishment.

We must remember that punishment is the medicine. There is no one punishment that fits all cases or all children, and the punishment must be made to fit the offense and also the offender.

FASHION IN GLOVES

IN Paris and London well dressed women never go out of the house in the daytime ungloved. In Paris, however, the fashion of leaving gloves off for evening still prevails in London gloves are worn to the eyes.

For morning wear, the chemise of double moulinet gloves with one or two large buttons is the proper thing. Double is really the better fabric of the two, as it washes well.

For more dressy wear, tailors suits rather heavy kids in white or delicate bluish color are popular. They are made with two buttons. For full Green wear made is used almost exclusively, and the newest craze is for the bluish colored suede gloves which fit the arm loosely. To Americans who are used to a certain fastness at the wrist line this looseness may appear ungainly, but it is French and, like all things foreign, it has a certain fascination for a pretty hand and arm.

Chic Dressing Blouse a Summer Standby

WORN with a tailored suit and a jaunty hat the crepe de chine blouse this season is made into constant service, being ever useful and always ornamental. An attractive blouse of pink crepe de chine in this one with its lengthy row of white bell buttons.

The Sleeping Porch Fad

It is quite true that the American people have been and are at times subject to the craziest fads ever heard of, but among the many useless fads adopted in our country there occur occasionally one or two which prove of general benefit to mankind. One which has become very popular in the past five years and is of especial value in the sleeping porch.

Until recently no one ever heard of sleeping in the open except in the case of convicts or campers. Then a short while ago some one had a flash of genius and asked if sleeping in the open were good for convicts why was it not good for sermons in normal health.

Gradually as the craze was accepted and slowly spread men and women all over the country began to utilize the tops of their verandas and all odd little porches for sleeping purposes.

After awhile the wealthier followers of the fad started to build sleeping porches to their houses. These were constructed more or less like ordinary rooms, with heavy roofs and walls, but the upper half of these walls was left open. The fittings in some of these outdoor rooms are as beautiful as those in any of the indoor rooms.

The benefit of this fad is patent that it seems almost unnecessary to explain wherein it lies. To breathe the free undiluted air all night long is the most strengthening way to sleep, and it is safe to assert that no child brought up in a sleeping porch will ever have a tendency to "weak lungs." Young children who are unaccustomed to sleeping in the open should be started on their sleeping porch careers in the hottest weather and gradually worked up to the winter weather. In this way they become accustomed to the gradually increasing cold, and far from being dangerous for them to sleep in the open, it is highly beneficial, but only under the above mentioned conditions. To put a young baby out on a sleeping porch for a cold night without any previous experience is quite enough to kill it.

Every suburbanite and country house should have the sleeping porch built for benefit and her children during the summer months. No matter how small a cottage the house may be it is sure to have some kind of porch which can be utilized for this purpose. For the city dweller, unhappily, the sleeping porch is an unobtainable asset unless one happens to have the means to own a house. A great many of the brownstone houses purchased in the rear, usually on the third or fourth story. These can be utilized in the manner described by the owner of the house if it be a private house or by the occupant of the room. If the house is let off in sections to outsiders. The uncovered porch is rather a disadvantage on account of possible rain, which may drench bedclothes and cut, but if our readers care to chance it they can easily protect their bedding from the wet by spreading large sheets of slicker over their cots. Then if they are awakened by rain pattering on their faces two minutes' time will find them safe indoors with their cots perfectly dry.

Willow Table Lamp

THEIR vogue for willow furnishings is still continuing, and from chair seats and bookcases, extend even to lamps and candlesticks. The lamp illustrated here is to be fitted for electric lights.

TUNICS AND GIRDLES

Tunics of net and lace which fall in folds are edged with some colored silk and the deep center is often edged by a second colored sash tied about the waist. In one corner of white net a deep giraffe of Roman striped ribbon tied in the back in a gigantic Japanese bow ruthlessly destroys all our traditions and in another a hoire of taffeta says quite plainly, "the lingerie gown of 1911 has got to be worked up."

Very often the embroidery of net or batiste or organdie is in color, as, for instance, on an 1890 frock whose ruffled skirt and fichu are brought out by blue needlework.

Importance of Cotton Crape

THE woman who takes full advantage of crape for summer clothes eliminates the work of the laundress on ironing day almost by half. And this summer, when crape of all sorts is in full fashion, the housewife's task of making use of it is easy.

Ironing destroys the characteristic charm of crape. A really beautiful crape frock was sent by its owner last summer to a laundress who was unkind to the fabric. She ironed it. It came home ruined—far too large, smooth and characterless. And, of course, the little crinkled wrinkles that the iron had smoothed could never be regained.

It is better to use heavy lace in crape frocks and underwear—lace that holds its shape and requires little ironing. When fine lace, like valencienne, is used it must be carefully pressed and pulled into shape without ironing the crape.

Crape nightgown can be very attractively made. Nightgowns cut by some simple pattern, with kimono sleeves, can be finished with a half inch hem at the top, through which quarter inch ribbon can be run. There can be a bit of coarse white embroidery on the front and sleeves, and the sleeves can be finished with plain lace. In spite of their simplicity such nightgowns are dainty if they are nicely made.

A new summer night garment that can be made of crape is an interesting sort of pajamas for women and children—a garment all in one piece, so that the bothersome cut feature is eliminated. These pajamas have collars and cuffs of colored lawn—pink, blue or white lawn, and these collars and cuffs must, of course, be ironed to look well. For children these pajamas are made with full bloomers drawn into an elastic band about the ankles.

Crape clothing, so that they will retain their shape. A good way to hang crape waists is on hangers, covered with strips of white cotton woven about them.

Petticoats can be made with crape foundations, with crape over the very and lawn or of all over embroidery. The flounces can be fringed after the crape is dry. If the crape is dampened with water and the flounces are sprinkled, it can dry later.

Children's summer clothes can be almost entirely of crape. Petticoats, blouses and collars of pique—which must be ironed—top of colored lawn. Belts and collars and cuffs of colored lawn can be used on little girls' crape frocks.

DEMIJOHNS FOR LAMPS

A COUPLE of wicker covered demijohns are going to do duty this summer in a seashore bungalow as the bases of lamps. One of them received only a thorough cleaning before being pressed into service, and the other was treated to a coat of brown enamel paint. On the light one has been fitted a spreading wicker shade and on the brown a Japanese openwork shade lined with a yellow flowered cloth.

The latter will stand in the general living room, which is done in brown and buff, and the former will illumine the veranda from a wicker table at the window.

Hand Trays Like Summer Fields Abloom

BUTTERFLIES on the wing hovering over fields of clover—red and white—and daisies and wild roses is the picture which, embroidered on cool looking tan linen, covers the base of a tray used for serving dainty sandwiches and cooling refreshments at the afternoon tea hour.

Buy An Irrigated Farm From The Canadian Pacific Railway

BECAUSE: Irrigation makes the farmer independent of rain-fall, and insures good crops, not occasionally, but EVERY YEAR.

Irrigation makes possible the successful culture of alfalfa, the king of fodders, which insures best returns in dairying and mixed farming.

Irrigation means intensive farming and close settlement, with all the advantages of a densely populated agricultural community.

Irrigation in the Canadian Pacific Railway Irrigation block is no longer an experiment, the year 1914 having absolutely demonstrated its success wherever intelligently applied.

You can buy irrigated land from the Canadian Pacific Railway at prices ranging from $55 to $75 per acre, with twenty years to pay, and the privilege of a loan of $2000 for improvements (6% interest; no principal payment till end of first or second year and no water rental for first year. Assistance is also given in supplying stock in approved instances.
